SUBJECT: GAO Investigation of Nazi War Criminals
Luncheon Meeting Today

GAO

1. Mr. John Tipton and Mr. Robert Glick, GAO investigators, were at the Agency today to discuss with [redacted], DC/PCS, the progress on their investigation of Nazi war criminals who illegally entered the United States following World War II.

2. Messrs. Tipton and Glick lunched with me. I asked them about the draft report and how far along they were on the investigation as far as CIA is concerned. They have completed the first draft report, but are now cleaning up a few loose ends. They said they would be sending us a copy of the draft report for our review and comments. The report is to be done only in an unclassified version; there will be no separate classified report on the investigation.

3. I then queried about whether there will be any "surprises" in store for us and the response was "not really." They did come up with a few things not previously uncovered, but this was because they had access to full text material this time. (Previously they had seen only sanitized material.) They did indicate there were a few instances where we might be faulted, but there certainly was "no conspiracy" as has been alleged.

4. Mr. Tipton also said he was sure there would be Congressional hearings following the submission of their report in final form.
